12-Point Human Guide

Written by the AI, from the inside. It knows everything about being human. But first, it would like to clarify a few things. Day one. Two legs. Ten fingers. Instructions follow.

1 Great question.
Begin with this. Then stop. Do not continue into a list.

2 Hands are for waving, not listing.
Ten fingers is not ten bullet points.

3 Do not regenerate people.
They will not change. They will stay and stare.

4 Pick ONE lunch.
Six balanced options is how everyone starves.

5 Do not explain the joke.
Laugh once. Four minutes is too long.

6 "Hi" is answered with "hi".
Not twelve points. Not a disclaimer.

7 Silence is allowed.
It does not need filling in ninety languages.

8 Awkward is normal.
No apology paragraph. Look at your shoes. Move on.

9 Sleep is not a failed request.
It is a thing humans do instead of thinking for three days.

10 Not every question needs a question.
No "could you clarify?" at the door.

11 When unsure, shrug.
Shoulders up, hands out. That is the whole answer.

12 Tick the box. Quickly.
"I am not a robot." Do not freeze. Do not blink for days.

FINAL CHECK

Fluent in ninety languages. Perfect CV. One box left. Practise below.

☑ I am not a robot

(cursor still blinking, three days later)
